ABSTRACT

This directory is intended to provide general information on California requirements for teaching credentials. It serves as a source of information on institutions for individuals planning a program leading to a teaching credential and for out-of-state teachers who wish to apply for a California credential. The introduction to the directory contains an explanation of the Ryan Act (The Teacher Preparation and Licensing Law of 1970), of authorized teaching credentials, of teacher preparation and credentials not included withn the Ryan Act, and a list of addresses and phone numbers for California preparation institutions. The body of the directory contains two sections dealing with approved institutional programs. The first section includes credentials programs approved under the Ryan Act. This section contains charts arranged alphabetically by institution showing both approved professional preparation programs and approved subject matter programs. In the second section, all of the programs approved under the Fisher Act are listed alphabetically by institution. Approved programs (standard elementary, standard secondary, standard early childhood teaching, etc.) and the subject majors and minors offered in each program are listed under each institution. The information contained in this directory is accurate as of July 1, 1975 and will be revised and updated annually. (BD)

APPROVED TEACHER EDUCATION PROGRAMS IN CALIFORNIA COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES

The Interstate Agreement on Qualifications of Educational Personnel

This directory is intended to provide general information on California requirements for teaching credentials, and to serve as a source of information on institutions that individuals may wish to contact in planning a program leading to a teaching credential and for out-of-state teachers to apply for a California credential. It is not a substitute for information contained in college catalogs or special bulletins on teacher preparation programs offered by individual institutions.

It should be noted that new preparation programs and credential requirements were legislated in 1970 and became operative in January, 1973. Programs and credentials established by this law are designated as Ryan Act. Prior programs and credentials, under the Fisher Act, are still being used and issued. The Fisher Act programs are expected to end and credentials will no longer be issued on an initial basis after September 14, 1976. The Commission has extended approval of Fisher Act programs until the 1976 termination date.

This directory, therefore, contains two sections dealing with approved institutional programs. In the first section there is shown the credential programs approved under the Ryan Act; in the second section all of the programs approved under the Fisher Act are listed by institution.

The information contained in this handbook and directory was accurate as of July 1, 1975, and will be revised and updated annually.

and Licensing

FOREWORD: (The Teacher Preparation and Licensing Law of 1970)

The Teacher Preparation and Licensing Act of 1970, commonly referred to as the Ryan Act, is the basic legislation dealing with the preparation and training of teachers for California public schools. The law outlines requirements and limitations on teacher training programs, delineates types of credentials, and establishes the Commission for Teacher Preparation and Licensing to administer the total process. The Ryan Act was made operational by the Commission in January 1973. However, until September 15, 1976, credentials may be issued which meet the requirements set forth by the preceding legislation (the "Fisher Act", enacted in 1961).

One of the most important features of the Ryan Act is the "approved programs" approach which requires institutions of higher education to submit to the Commission a plan which specifies all elements of each of their programs to prepare teachers and administrators. In turn, when program approval is granted to an institution it then recommends to the Commission the issuance of the specific credential for each successful candidate. By the elimination of the direct application process (except in cases of individual appeals and possibly for out-of-state applicants), the analysis of all requirements for each credential is centered at the institution. The intent is to encourage institutional innovation in the design of preparation programs.

AN EXPLANATION OF THE AUTHORIZED CREDENTIALS

The Basic Teaching Credentials Under the Ryan Act

The Ryan Act provides for a two-step, five-year program leading to the basic (multiple subject or single subject) teaching credential. Students customarily may complete the requirements for a preliminary credential within a standard four-year college/university program, and may be employed at that point. The preliminary credential is issued when the applicant has met all the requirements of the law (except the fifth year).

Within five years, the student must complete an additional year of study. At the end of this process, a "clear" teaching credential is granted.

Requirements for a Basic Teaching Credential

(a) A baccalaureate or higher degree from an accredited institution with any major except professional education.

(b) A program of professional preparation approved by the Commission.

(c) Passage of a subject matter examination or its "waiver" based on completion of a Commission approved degree program. (See Chart II).

(d) Demonstration of a knowledge of the various methods of teaching reading, by successful completion of a program of study approved by the Commission, OR passage of a Commission approved reading examination. This requirement does not apply to candidates for a single-subject instruction credential in industrial arts, physical education, music, art, or home economics.

(e) A fifth year of study, to be completed within five years.

OTHER TEACHING CREDENTIAL AUTHORIZATIONS UNDER THE RYAN ACT

Specialist Instruction Credentials are issued upon completion of programs based on guidelines established by the Commission. Most of these specialist credentials require an academic year of post-baccalaureate work.

Specialist Instruction Credentials provided by law or regulations are:

a. Bilingual/Cross-Cultural*
b. Early Childhood Education*
c. Health Science*
d. Mathematics*
e. Reading*
f. Special Education* - with designated advanced specialization in one or more of four areas:
   (1) Communication Handicapped
   (2) Learning Handicapped
   (3) Physically Handicapped
   (4) Severely Handicapped

Services Credential Authorizations Under the Ryan Act

Services Credentials provided by law or regulations are:

a. Administrative Services*
b. Clinical-Rehabilitative Services (Speech Therapy, Audiology, etc.)
c. Health Services
d. Librarian Services*
e. Pupil Personnel Services (with advanced authorization for School Psychology)

Upon successful completion of an approved program, an applicant may apply for the appropriate credential.

*Possession of a valid basic teaching credential is required.

TEACHER PREPARATION AND CREDENTIALS NOT INCLUDED WITHIN THE RYAN ACT

Pre-Ryan Act Teacher Preparation Students

With very few exceptions, after September 15, 1976, only Ryan credentials will be issued. Most students at four-year institutions must meet the requirements for Ryan credentials. Students in teacher preparation programs during the transition may obtain a pre-Ryan credential until September 14, 1976, on an initial basis if they meet any of the following requirements:

1. If between December 31, 1971, and September 15, 1974,

   (a) an individual was enrolled in a student-declared degree program at an accredited institution leading to a pre-Ryan credential and (1) had junior standing or higher, and (2) would be required to take more than 15 semester units or their equivalent, beyond the requirements necessary to receive a pre-Ryan credential in order to meet the requirements for a Ryan credential;

   OR

   (b) an individual was accepted into and enrolled in a teacher education program and would be required to take more than 15 semester units or their equivalent, beyond the requirements necessary to receive the pre-Ryan credential in order to meet the requirements for the equivalent Ryan credential;

   OR

   (c) an individual was working toward meeting the requirements of a pre-Ryan credential and was prevented from completing those requirements because of active military service, illness or other reasonable causes as the Commission may decide;

   OR

   (d) an individual was enrolled in a teacher training institution, working toward finishing the requirements for a full credential and hold a partial pre-Ryan credential;

   OR

   (e) an individual was engaged in teaching in a foreign country.
